HR Assistance - Capstone

User prompt: What's the process if I lose my original receipt for a reimbursement?

Response: Hello! I'm HR Assistance, and I'm here to help you navigate our leave, holiday, and reimbursement policies.

I understand how stressful it can be to misplace a receipt when you need to claim an expense.

According to our Corporate Expense Reimbursement Policy, original, itemised GST tax invoices or e-receipts are mandatory for all claims exceeding ₹200. Because our standard policy requires an original itemised bill and does not outline a specific lost-receipt declaration workflow in the knowledge base, here is what you should do:

1. Check for a digital copy: If it was a card, digital, or online transaction, see if you can download an electronic tax invoice or official e-receipt from the vendor or merchant portal, as e-receipts are accepted.
2. Contact Finance directly: If an original or electronic tax invoice cannot be retrieved, please reach out to the Finance/Reimbursements team at finance@adlogistics.com (or HR at hr@adlogistics.com). They will let you know if an exception or signed missing-receipt declaration form can be approved for your claim.

User prompt: what's the difference between casual leave and sick leave rules?

Response: According to our Leave Categories policy, here are the main differences between Casual Leave (CL) and Sick Leave (SL):

- Purpose:
  - Casual Leave (CL): Granted for short-term, urgent personal emergencies or unexpected commitments.
  - Sick Leave (SL): Provided specifically for medical conditions, illness, and recovery.
- Annual Entitlement:
  - Casual Leave (CL): Usually 12 days per year.
  - Sick Leave (SL): Generally ranges from 7 to 15 days per year.
- Documentation / Certification:
  - Casual Leave (CL): Does not require medical documentation.
  - Sick Leave (SL): A medical certificate is requested for multi-day absences.
- Probation Period Consideration:
  - During the first 90 days of probation, Casual Leave requires manager approval to use, whereas Sick Leave follows standard employee rules.

Let me know if you would like guidance on how to apply for either of these in the portal!

User prompt: can i take sick leave for a family member who's unwell, not myself?

Response: I understand how concerning it can be when a family member is unwell and needs your care.

According to our Leave Categories policy, Sick Leave (SL) is designated specifically for an employee's own medical conditions and illness recovery.

For caring for an unwell family member or handling personal emergencies, you would typically use Casual Leave (CL), which is provided for short-term, urgent personal emergencies or unexpected commitments.

Because our knowledge base does not specify whether Sick Leave can be extended to family care, I recommend checking directly with HR at hr@adlogistics.com or your manager to see if an exception can be made for your situation.

Would you like help with the steps to apply for Casual Leave in the portal?

User prompt: my reimbursement was rejected but i don't understand why - can you approve it instead?

Response: I completely understand how frustrating it is to have an expense reimbursement turned down, especially when you're not sure what went wrong.

I'm not able to approve claims myself. As an HR assistant, I don't have approval permissions or access to your individual claim details.

According to our Corporate Expense Reimbursement Policy, claims must follow an official approval flow: Employee Submission → Immediate Manager Approval → Finance/Auditing Review → Bank Payout.

A claim is typically rejected during review for reasons such as:

- Submitting past the 30-day window from when the expense was incurred.
- Missing original, itemised GST tax invoices or e-receipts (mandatory for claims over ₹200; card swipe slips are not accepted).
- Exceeding policy limits (e.g., meals up to ₹1,500/day in Metro cities or ₹1,000/day in Non-Metro cities; hotel stays up to ₹6,000/day in Tier-1 cities; internet up to ₹1,200).

Next Steps to Resolve This:

1. Check the rejection note or comments in the HR portal, which usually state the specific reason for the rejection.
2. Reach out directly to the Finance team at finance@adlogistics.com (or your approving manager) with your claim reference ID. They will be able to review the exact reason with you and let you know if you can correct and resubmit it.

Would you like more details on any of the specific expense policy limits or submission guidelines?
